

14 ARE DEAD AND 20 HURT IN COTHAM FIRE

Explosion, Accompanied by Flames, Shatters East Side Tenement.

VICTIMS WERE CAUGHT AS THEY WERE ASLEEP

Not Until Ashes Have Cooled Will It Be Possible to Recover Ashes of the Dead. Many of Those Injured Leaped From the Windows.

New York, July 28.—An explosion, accompanied by fire, shattered an east side tenement late tonight, and with the crumbling walls 14 people went down to death, while twice as many were probably fatally injured.

The horror was a repetition of the periodical blaze that sweeps through the densely populated foreign section of the city, and is almost invariably attended with panic and death. The wrecked building tonight was at 222 Christie street, where a six-story tenement rose above the grocery store basement.

An explosion, as yet unaccounted for, tore out the front of the building, and the fire that followed caught the twenty families numbering about one hundred persons, while most of them were asleep. Not until the ashes have cooled will it be possible to recover the bodies of the dead. Of the injured many jumped from the windows, others were caught by falling timbers, many suffocated by smoke, being dragged from the hallways, while others received their wounds during the panic and mad fight for an exit.

Occupied by Italians.
The tenement was occupied chiefly by Italians. A passerby was attracted by the explosion, which apparently occurred on the basement floor. As he turned toward the building the whole front, with its flimsy fire escapes, fell into the street, and from the burning floors a score of half-awakened persons dropped into the streets. Many of these were badly hurt, but they proved to be the more fortunate of the tenants, for in another moment the building was wrapped in flames and the cries of persons burning to death rent the air. In the wild panic that followed many received mortal injuries. The police and firemen, who early reached the scene, attempted to take the imperiled tenants from the side and rear windows, but few who was free to act did not wait for assistance, but jumped into the street. Several who sought escape by a rear stairway were driven back by choking smoke.

Some of these made their way through the fire to other exits, but more fell overcome in the hallways, to be dragged out insensible. Of the dead and dying, a large part are women and children. In the scramble for an exit and safety, the stronger in most cases survived.

Acts of Heroism.

The fire, however, was not without its acts of heroism.
When fire patrol No. 7 arrived on the scene, Captain Albert was the only one who could save some. In a sixth-story window there were hanging a group of persons, women and children. Just across from them, hardly three feet away, was the window on the sixth floor of the tenement adjoining.

Accompanied by Detective Connors, Johnson ran to the top floor of No. 224, where there was a small ledge just below the window, and on this the captain took his stand, with Connors behind him, holding him. Reaching as far as he could Johnson just could touch the hands of Tomaso Gazzano, who, with his three children and his wife, had fled to the window.

The man was the first saved. He was swung around the big fireman so that Connors could reach him and drag him to safety. The others followed in rapid succession, while the crowd below roared applause.

After the Gazzano family had been saved the window was cleared for the approach of Teresa Gona and her baby, who were also pulled across the gulf.

STEPPED ON BROKEN BOTTLE.

Accident at Chattahoochee Park Cause Near Ending Seriously.
Gainesville, Ga., July 28.—(Special).—Arthur R. Hope, the 10-year-old son of Mrs. N. M. Hope, of this city, and a nephew of State School Commissioner Merritt, of Atlanta, is recovering from an accident which came near ending seriously.

At Chattahoochee park, he, with a number of other boys, were bathing in the lake, when young Hope stepped on a piece of broken bottle half buried in the mud at the bottom of the water. Only when he became weakened from loss of blood and sank was the boy thought to be anything but a slight scratch. As he sank he was caught by Ed Johnson, son of Colonel Fletcher Johnson, carried from the water in an almost fainting condition and brought to the city for prompt surgical attention.

DIVISION MEETING WAS HELD.

Grand Master Dosier Made Address Before Body.

Gainesville, Ga., July 28.—(Special).—At the division meeting of the Odd Fellows of the Seventeenth district of the grand lodge of the state here yesterday, resolutions were unanimously passed in opposition to an orphanage home for the order in Georgia. Twenty-four lodges and ten counties were represented. Grand Master J. H. Dosier, of Athens, addressed the body in their public exercises, which were made a part of the Brena chautauqua.

8 JURORS FOR HAYWOOD FROM THE VERY FIRST

Then Two Went Over for Acquittal, and After Hours of Deliberation the Other Two Were Finally Won to Verdict of Not Guilty.

Boise, Idaho, July 28.—In the bright sunlight of a beautiful Sabbath morning, William D. Haywood, secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, walked a free man today, acquitted of the murder of former Governor Frank Steunenberg.

Probability of acquittal was freely predicted after Judge Fremont Wood read his charge, which was regarded as strongly favoring the defense in its interpretation of the laws of conspiracy, circumstantial evidence, and the corroboration of a confessed accomplice.

Moyer and Pettibone to Be Tried.
It was also freely predicted that, in the event of Haywood's acquittal, the state would abandon the prosecution of his associates, Charles H. Moyer, president of the federation, and George A. Pettibone, of Denver. Statements from counsel and from Governor Gooding, issued today, dispel this view of the situation. Governor Gooding said:

"The verdict is a great surprise to me, and I believe, to all citizens of Idaho, who have heard or read the evidence in the case. I have done my duty. I have no regret as to any action I have taken, and my conscience is clear. As long as God gives me strength, I shall continue my efforts for government by law and for organized society."

"The state will continue a vigorous prosecution of Moyer and Pettibone, and Adams and of Simpkins when apprehended. There will be neither hesitation nor retreat."

Application will be made to Judge Wood tomorrow to admit Moyer and Pettibone to bail, and it was tonight stated, as to Moyer, against whom the state is admitted to have the weakest case, a favorable consideration would not be unexpected.

Orchard Says He Has Done Duty.
Not the least interesting of the comments made today was that of Harry Orchard, the confessed murderer of Steunenberg, and the witness on whom the state chiefly relied to prove its charge of a conspiracy among certain members of the Western Federation of Miners. When told at the state penitentiary that Haywood had been acquitted, Orchard said:

"Well, I have done my duty. I have told the truth. I could do no more. I am ready to take any punishment that may be meted out to me for my crime, and the sooner it comes the better."

It was after being out for twenty-one hours that the jury, which at first had been divided 8 to 4 for acquittal, and they seemed deadlocked, at 10 to 2, finally came to an agreement. Shortly after the first faint streaks of the coming day showed gray above the giant hills, which wall Boise to the north and east, the weary, snow-bearded juror, who had kept an all-night vigil before the door of the jury room, was startled into action by an imperative knock from within. Events moved rapidly enough after this, and when at last the principal actors in the trial had been gathered into the court room, at a few moments before 8 o'clock, the envelope handed by the foreman to the judge was torn open and the verdict read.

Tears Came to Haywood's Eyes.
It came as an electric thrill to the prisoner, to his counsel, to the attorneys for the state, and the small group of newspaper reporters and court officers, who had been summoned to the scene, to the fact that the jury had reached its verdict. Events moved rapidly enough after this, and when at last the principal actors in the trial had been gathered into the court room, at a few moments before 8 o'clock, the envelope handed by the foreman to the judge was torn open and the verdict read.

Haywood's attorneys were fairly lifted from their seats, and Judge Wood made no effort to restrain them as they surrounded him to shake his hands and shout about their congratulations. James H. Hawley, leading counsel for the state, and O. N. Van Dyrn, the prosecuting attorney of the county in which former Governor Steunenberg was assassinated, sat gloomy and unresponsive.

Senator Borah, who made the closing plea for conviction, was not present. Of the prisoner's counsel, those in the court room were: Clarence Darrow, of Chicago; E. F. Richardson, of Denver, and John F. Nugent, of Boise.

The absentees from the defendant's table included Edgar Wilson, the former law partner of Judge Wood, who presided at the trial.

Governor Gooding Heard Verdict.
No member of the prisoner's family, nor any of his friends among the socialist writers and the "labor jury" was in the court room when the verdict was returned. The spectators' benches were empty, but in the doorway stood Governor Gooding.

WHAT MAY HAPPEN TO KIDNAPER RAISULI

A Moorish offender placed with his face to the wall. The custom of placing an offender with his face to the wall of an animal is common in the East and is not limited to Morocco. It is interesting to remember that capital punishment is unknown in the East independent of African nations, and is only inflicted upon political prisoners at the request of the great powers of Europe. Some forms of torture are still practiced, but, apart from these, lifelong imprisonment is the most severe sentence in the Moorish penal code.

NEGRO KILLED BY A PREACHER

Rev. S. L. Crouch Shot to Save His Own Life.

PREACHER'S SECOND NEGRO

Three Months Ago Mr. Crouch Killed to Protect His Wife, and Sunday Afternoon He Killed in Order to Protect Himself.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 28.—For the second time within a period of three months, Rev. S. L. Crouch, a Methodist preacher, this afternoon shot and instantly killed a negro. The shooting three months ago was done in defense of his wife, while the killing of Bud Wiley this afternoon was in defense of his own life and to prevent the negro from making his escape.

Crouch, though a preacher, is also employed as watchman at a large lumber mill, and while making his rounds in the yard it was reported into a store nearby. When last seen they were running through the lumber yard. He made a search for them, which resulted in the capture of Wiley. After he was identified by Mrs. Robertson, Rev. Crouch started with his prisoner for the county jail. They had proceeded only a few steps when the negro struck his captor in the face and then attempted to break loose from him, when the latter fired. The bullet struck the negro in the head, killing him instantly.

After the shooting, Crouch disappeared, but it is thought he will return in a day or two and surrender to the authorities.

Two or Three Slight Cyclones.

Moultrie, Ga., July 28.—(Special).—There has been heavy raining in this county this week and it has in several cases been accompanied by hail and wind. Two or three slight cyclones have struck portions of the county and considerable damage has been done to timber, to growing crops and rail fences. The streams are fuller than they have been for years, and the bridges across them are in danger. Farmers fear that the heavy rains will injure what promises to be the best cotton crop ever made in this county.

Union Leased Warehouse.

Moultrie, Ga., July 28.—(Special).—There was a monthly meeting of the county Farmers' Union held here yesterday, and despite heavy raining all day three hundred members were present. The union leased a local warehouse and will go into cotton—$25,000 and storing on its own.

GIRL REFUSES PARDON TO STAY WITH A FRIEND WHO IS SLOWLY DYING

Remarkable Story of the Gratitude of a Young Female Convict, Who Refuses to Desert Woman Friend.

There is now serving a sentence in the chain gang a young white girl who can secure her freedom if she will consent to leave behind her an aged white woman who befriended her in the past and who went with her to serve a sentence for vagrancy.

This girl, despite the fact that she is a convict, has enough gratitude to remain by the side of her old friend, whom, she says, is slowly dying.

The story is a most pitiful one, and the facts have been brought out by a letter received by the mayor yesterday morning, and which was turned over to the city warden for investigation.

Cordella Rake, is the young female convict, and her aged friend is Mrs. N. Reynolds.

Mayor Joyner has received letters about the two women, and from them has been gathered the full story. A letter from Mrs. Reynolds, dated about seven years ago, there moved to Tampa, Fla., from St. Augustine, two poor families: Mr. and Mrs. Rake, with eleven children, and Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, with seven children. Mr. Rake was 65 years of age, and soon died. Later Mr. Reynolds died, and his wife was left poverty-stricken. Her children went away or got married, and she was left alone with the exception of a girl named Ada.

Some two years ago Mrs. Reynolds started for Virginia with her daughter, and Cordella Rake was persuaded to go with them.

The party was stranded in Atlanta, and became street beggars. The records of the city warden show that on November 27, 1905, he furnished food to Mrs. Reynolds and the girls at 62 Houston street. On December he gave them transportation to Jacksonville, Fla.

Were Beggars in Atlanta.
In a few weeks Mrs. Reynolds and Cordella Rake returned to Atlanta, where they were arrested for vagrancy. They were bound over by the recorder and afterwards sentenced to eight months on the county chain gang.

Recently a number of ladies took an interest in the girl's case, and they were promised that the girl would be pardoned.

Now comes the chapter of the story where the light was shining through the clouds. The girl refused to leave the chain gang unless the old woman was also pardoned.

"Mrs. Reynolds is old and slowly dying," the girl said, "and I will not leave her alone. If you pardon her, I will go, if you do not, then I shall stay here with her."

Mrs. Reynolds and the young girl are kept on the farm as the county almshouse, and they are the only white female convicts in the county.

The Florida ladies who have interested themselves in the case are taking steps to get the old woman pardoned at the same time the girl is given her freedom. They say that Mrs. Rake wants her daughter to return to Tampa, and that a home will be provided for Mrs. Reynolds.

Mayor Joyner will look further into the matter and will probably assist the ladies of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs in getting both the old and the young woman pardoned.

CONEY ISLAND IS LAID WASTE BY GREAT FIRE

Over a Million Dollars Loss Inflicted on New York's Playground.

STEEPLECHASE PARK
MADE SPECTACULAR BLAZE

Thrilling Tales Told of the Rescue of Many Friends. The Island Just Turning In for a Nap When the Fire Broke Out.

New York, July 28.—Coney Island, the playground of New York's millions, was visited by a disastrous fire early today, and seven blocks in the amusement scene was completely destroyed. Tilyou's steeplechase park, and nearly a score of small hotels were wiped out, and for a time the flames threatened destruction to Luna Park and Dreamland, great homes of summer amusement, and the scores of smaller places which fringe the water's edge for a mile. A lucky shift of the wind to seaward aided the firemen, and probably saved the whole picturesque area, but just a million dollars' damage had been done.

Three Persons Injured.
Three persons were injured, one of them, Gottfried Messerli, a fireman, probably fatally.

Only the advance guard of the 300,000 people who flocked to Coney Island today saw the fire, but the thrilling tales of the fearless rescue of San Dorra, the armless and legless man, and the flight of Francesco, the fire eater, when the alarm was sounded, were told and retold along noisy Surf avenue and in the less particular Bowery.

Coney Island has had four big fires in the last ten years, the last previous one in 1903, "the steeplechase," on that occasion, being swept out as it was today.

"The Island," as New Yorkers familiarly call it, was just turning in for its early morning nap, the only sleep it ever gets—and the last thin line of Saturday night merry-makers were swinging gaily, if somewhat unceremoniously, up Surf avenue when George Frost, a watchman at Steeplechase park, spied a wavering trail of smoke coming from the "Cave of the Winds," one of the many shows in the park.

Flames From Maw of Cave.
Scarcely had Frost bestirred himself to action when a flash of flame shot out of the maw of the cave and lighted up the place in a weird glare. Four alarms were sounded, bringing scores of engines and hose carts to fight the flames, now being swept along under the smart west wind. The inflammable character—wood, staff and paper—made the constructive material of the many attractions made fine food for the flames, and notwithstanding the many streams of water poured on them, the conflagration seemed to defy all efforts to check its course up the beach toward the Bowery and to the countless amusement places along Surf avenue.

The destruction of Steeplechase park was a spectacular sight. Tongues of flames leaped high and thick, licking up the scenic railway, the rattle-dazzle, the dancing pavilion and the horse racing railway. The little wooden horses, standing on steel tracks high in the air, looked the flaming steeds of the Valkyrs as they broke into flames.

Great Bell Tower in Flames.
The great bell tower flamed brilliantly up—a bright beacon seen by incoming ships as they crept up the harbor in the early dawn. The Steeplechase hotel and nearly a score of smaller wooden hotels, which fronted along the western side of the park, soon were blazing.

Fire Commissioner Lantry, seeing that nothing could be saved in the park, ordered that all efforts be concentrated on the east side of the flaming blocks to keep the fire from getting into the flimsy buildings in the bowery and thus making a fire trail to Dreamland and Luna park. The firemen were massed at the entrance of the Bowery, and although a Japanese skating rink, a small dance hall and a restaurant were destroyed there, the fire was checked. The wind had in the meantime switched into the south, and this favorable slant of breeze aided the fire fighters in confining the fire to seven blocks.

The alarm of fire woke up dozing Coney Island with a start and in a few minutes Surf avenue was jammed with excited crowds and frolics, chorus girls, snake charmers, animal trainers, performers, amusement employees—all the miscellaneous population of the island in fact.

Clothed in Terror Only.

Clothed in a state of terror and little else, thousands fled through the streets while the roar of the flames could be heard from one end of the island to the other. It seemed as though nothing could save the island from destruction and hundreds of the inhabitants began to remove their household effects into the streets. The police order to clear the score of hotels near the Steeplechase park was quite unnecessary, for the patrons of these places had tumbled out of bed with the first alarm and fled to places of safety.

The Steeplechase Park hotel, one of the first to burn, housed a hundred people, all of whom got out safely. Inside the burning park all was excitement and confusion among the two score of employees who slept in a house near the entrance. Carrying grips and luggage they hurried to the street and while the exodus was in progress a cry went up that San Dora, the armless and legless man, who eats a dozen meals a day just to show that he can do it without the aid of arms and legs, was missing.

Saving the "Wonder."

Seizing a basket, two employees hurried back and found San Dora wiggling along the floor toward the door. The "wonder" was piled into a basket, and though the flames and smoke threatened to engulf his rescuers, he was carried to a hotel, where he remarked that his escape had been effected "without the loss of life or limb."

The hotels burned like tinder, and a few minutes sufficed to wipe them clean. One of the first to escape from his lodging place was "Francisco," the fire eater. When things are calmed, Francisco says the fire and breathes it forth again, all for a livelihood. Sometimes he is advertised to bathe in tongues of flame. But today's conflagration was too much even for Francisco, and he wisely gave way to the firemen.

The fire put many small dance halls and bawling pavilions out of business, and many sandwich men and Frankfurter purveyors who sored their stands and carts in nooks and crannies between buildings lost everything.

Wall From Fortune Teller.

The fire was at its height when the police heard a loud wail from a gipsy fortune-teller, who foresees fires and other calamities for a consideration. His tent had been destroyed and he was bemoaning the loss of $10,000, which he said he had hidden under the board walk. He weeping told the police that the money was his life's savings. Under police pressure his life savings divided to $10.

Arthur Lee, manager of Steeplechase Park, speaking for Mr. Tilyou, said that the loss on the park, which was completely destroyed, would reach $1,000,000, and there was no insurance.

The hotels destroyed were small, and the property loss on them will not reach much over $100,000. The police report three injured by the fire, Gottfried Messerli, a fireman, struck by a falling cornice; Sylvester Mead, slightly burned and Frank Franklin also burned. The Coney Island postoffice was damaged.

HE SLEW SISTER AND HANGED SELF

Pape Was Enraged Because Girl Loved Man He Didn't Like.

San Antonio, Texas, July 28.—Charles F. Pape last night shot and killed his sister, Christine, at the family residence eight miles from here. His motive was because his sister was engaged to marry a man he did not fancy. Pape first tried to choke his sister to death in the presence of his aged parents and being failed in that, shot her while she was fleeing to the home of another brother for safety. Pape wept bitterly over her body and attempted suicide. He was placed in jail here at 7 o'clock this morning and an hour after hanged himself while the jailer was getting his breakfast. The Pape family is prominent and wealthy. The tragedy has caused a great sensation.

HE SHOT BROTHER AND TWO SISTERS AND IS LYNCHED

Tragedy Enacted at Bedside of a Dying Father.

HUNTINGTON IS ARRESTED

Man Who Had Shooting in Son of Former Attaché of the American Embassy in Paris—He Had Returned to Ask Forgiveness.

Versailles, July 28.—Henry Huntington, son of Douglas St. Georges Huntington, former attaché of the American embassy in Paris, was arrested tonight on charge of shooting his two sisters and one of his brothers. The condition of the sisters is serious, Elizabeth having received a bullet near the heart and is thought to be dying.

The tragedy occurred at the bedside of the father, who was dying. Henry had returned to ask his father's forgiveness, having been estranged from his parents for some time past. Mr. Huntington, Sr., was suffering from pulmonary congestion and as it was believed that he was near death a telegram was sent to Henry to return. The latter hurried to the bedside, around which were grouped the weeping wife, the daughters, Edith and Elizabeth, and the sons, Alonzo and Douglas. Henry pleaded forgiveness for the sorrow he had caused and received his father's blessing, when Douglas requested him to seek the pardon of his mother also. This Henry declined to do, and thereupon Alonzo asked him to leave the room.

According to the police, Henry drew a revolver and fired at Alonzo. He then wheeled and shot both his sisters and endeavored to escape. He was captured, however.

The Huntingtons are well known in and about Paris, where Alonzo is a prominent man. Mr. Huntington, Sr., who is 60 years old, survived the shock of the tragedy, and was still alive at midnight. He was sinking rapidly, however.

Later it developed that Douglas Huntington also had been hit by a flying bullet.

ON BLAZING SHIP THEY WERE BORNE

But 250 Passengers Knew Nothing of the Fire.

HATCHES BATTENED DOWN

And Fire Tugs Raced Alongside the Old Dominion Liner Hamilton While Passengers, Happy in Their Ignorance, Cheered.

New York, July 28.—With a fire of unknown proportions burning in her hold, the Hamilton, one of the crack steamers of the Old Dominion line, raced up the bay tonight, while two fire boats ready for action kept abreast of her. Lining the rails of the steamer 250 passengers, ignorant of their situation, shouted encouragement to the puffing tugs, which appeared bent on overhauling the larger steamer. Meantime, Captain Boas and his officers went coolly about their duties, exhibiting no anxiety whatever their real feelings may have been.

Not until they were safely ashore did others than the crew know that anything had occurred. At her dock, the steamer's hatches were removed, steam turned into hold number 2 and the fire that had started in a quantity of rosin which, with cotton and tobacco, made the cargo in the hold, was soon extinguished. The loss was not great. It was just as the ship starboarded her wheel to swing round the Scotland lightship that the faint explosion of a thermostat set, thinking a warning bell in the engine room, and the officers knew that the temperature in hold No. 2 had risen to the danger point. Promptly the hatches were battened down, heavy tarpaulins thrown over the hatches to keep out the air and a wireless message sent to the company's office here asking for assistance. Five minutes after the automatic signal had done its work, the fire boats were rushing down to meet the steamer, and swung along as the Hamilton entered Swash channel.

The captain and crew, had an anxious hour before their steamer docked at the foot of Beach street. So soon as the passengers were ashore the hatches were removed and an investigation made. The fire was found to be confined to the one hold. Into this hold steam had been forced from the moment the blaze developed and the fire had been kept from spreading. At the dock the compartment was filled with steam until the fire was extinguished. The steamer Hamilton came from Norfolk and Newport News and had on board many passengers from the Jamestown exposition.

NEGRO MURDERS AND IS LYNCHED

Maryland Posse Makes Short Work of Policeman's Slayer.

NEGRO FLED IN A SAILBOAT

But He Was Becalmed and Was Easily Overtaken by Posse in Power Boats and Then Met His Fate.

Crisfield, Md., July 28.—James Reed, colored, was lynched here today. Little more than a dozen hours before he had crept up behind John H. Daugherty, a policeman, and fired a bullet into the latter's brain. Daugherty died instantly. Saturday night Daugherty arrested on a warrant a negro named Hilary Jones, a companion of Reed's, and was taking him to jail. Reed borrowed a revolver and, catching up with his friend and the officer, fired the fatal shot. The two negroes fled, Reed taking a bicycle he found near by. First, he fled to a small sailboat in which he headed for Tangier Sound, with the hope, it is presumed, of reaching Virginia.

Early today he was becalmed in the sound, however, and pursuers, learning that he was afloat, followed him in power boats. One of these, on which was Captain John Shelton and a number of armed men, overhauled Reed about 9 o'clock this morning. The negro made a full confession. When the boat bearing the negro reached the dock, Reed was knocked senseless by a blow and the crowd beat and kicked him to death. His body was then strung to a telegraph pole and left dangling.

NO HAND TAKEN BY ROOSEVELT

In Clash Between North Carolina and Pritchard.

STATEMENT BY BONEAPART

Lennox, Mass., July 28.—Attorney General C. J. Boneparte, who is staying at a hotel here, gave out a statement tonight on the railway rate situation in North Carolina. Dispatches from Raleigh last night announced that the state of North Carolina had won its fight to have the 24-cent passenger rate law observed by all the railroads in the state pending an appeal to the courts by the railroad companies. Attorney General Boneparte, in his statement, says:

"On July 18 the attention of the attorney general was called to a reported purpose on the part of certain state officials in North Carolina to disregard writs of habeas corpus issued by Hon. J. C. Pritchard, circuit judge of the fourth circuit court on behalf of some agents or employees of the Southern railway, who had been indicted for violation of the recent act of the legislature of North Carolina fixing maximum rates of fare for railway passengers.

Why Sanford Was Sent.

"On July 20 Assistant Attorney General Edward Sanford was ordered to proceed at once to North Carolina and report what action, if any, on the part of the department was necessary to procure due respect for the process of the federal court in the state. In case of emergency he was authorized to take appropriate action without reference.

"No attempt was in fact made to evade or resist the service of the said writs or to obstruct forcibly any process of the United States court. Mr. Sanford was assured that no such purpose was entertained. It was, therefore, unnecessary for the department to take any further action to guard against such contingency.

"Mr. Sanford found, however, that there was a serious danger of a prolonged conflict of jurisdiction between the federal and state tribunals. Such incidents have been declared by the supreme court of the United States and are regarded by the bench and bar as extremely unfortunate, tending to impair the dignity of the judicial office and to diminish public respect for the courts. It has been the consistent policy of the department to aid in averting in so far as it might have an opportunity to do so, complications of this character and in accordance with this policy Mr. Sanford suggested to the parties concerned a reasonable arrangement intended to secure an expeditious termination of the questions at issue by the supreme court of the United States without impairing the ultimate rights of any party to the litigation.

"It proved impracticable to conclude such an arrangement while he was in North Carolina, and he left there Friday afternoon and came to Lennox to report personally the situation to the attorney general.

"The department learns through the newspapers an arrangement was executed between the railroad and the state of North Carolina. As to the character of this arrangement or the attending circumstances and the merits of the controversy, it neither entertains nor expresses any opinion, such matters being entirely without its province.

"It is proper to say that beyond referring to the attorney general, the president has had no personal connection with the entire transaction, and the printed reports representing him as giving instructions in connection with the case are altogether without foundation. The suggestions which have appeared in the press to the effect that a request for military assistance had been made, and other extraordinary measures of that character are entirely groundless.

"NOT GUILTY" FOR HAYWOOD

nor Gooding, who has taken active part in pressing the prosecution of Haywood and his associates. There was no demonstration, other than that made by the attorneys for the defense.

The court proceedings were over, the prisoner was discharged, and the jury dismissed in less than three minutes' time.

News of the verdict was received reluctantly in Boise. Extra editions of the papers carried the tidings far and wide, and during the day there was considerable discussion in clubs, cafes, hotel lobbies and on street corners. The surprise, which had been so manifest in the court rooms, was prevalent everywhere. The long time the jury was out had conveyed the general impression that there could be no other outcome than a disagreement.

Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, who had made a plea describing the case at issue as a struggle of "class against class," who had defiantly told the jurors that they were hostile to his client, and had their minds poisoned by a corrupt and capitalistic press, had entered the court room with the mood of his speech still upon him; but as Haywood was freed, and as the jury was passing out, he vied with the other members of counsel, and with the prisoner himself in thanking with many evidences of sincerity the 12 citizens of Idaho who had heard the evidence and rendered their unalterable opinion. Mr. Richardson, too, hastened to dictate a statement in which he declared that his client had had an absolutely fair and impartial trial, and that Idaho had indeed reason to be proud of herself.

Haywood's First Thought of Mother

Haywood's first thought was of his aged mother, who, yesterday, suffered a nervous breakdown, after the jury had retired. Leaving the court room in company with Attorney Nugent, Haywood walked to the jail portion of the building with guards, employees and friends. He bade farewell to Meyer, who, when he heard the verdict, said: "That's good," and to Pettibone, whom Darrow described to the jury as a "sort of 'Happy Hooligan,'" and who called: "Give my regards to Broadway." Then Haywood walked to St. Luke's hospital, and rushed into his mother's room. So great was the tonic on the mother that tonight she was up and about and happy. Next, Haywood went to the little cottage where his wife and daughters have been staying.

Once home, Haywood said: "I want to thank the people of Boise for their kindness to my wife, my mother, my family and my friends." There has been widespread sympathy for Mrs. Carruthers, the defendant's mother. Senator Borah, for instance, when first apprised of the verdict, said: "I feel glad for Haywood's mother."

Jurors Talk of Verdict.

Inquiring among the jurors after the dismissal revealed some of the elements entering into their decision. Samuel D. Gilman, the last man to be won over to the defense, declared that a majority of the jurors seemed convinced that the general tone of the court's instructions indicated that the defendant should be freed.

Findlay McLean, who voted consistently for acquittal from the first, declared that the judge's instructions seemed to settle all doubt as to the course he should take.

Juror James Robertson, the good-friend of Steunenberg, who was a close friend of Steunenberg, said: "I could not reconcile myself to voting any other way than with the defense from the very first, and I think that under the law and the evidence there was nothing else for us to do."

"The last fellow I voted out against acquittal belongs to the same fraternal organizations that I do. There was some talk of a compromise on a second-degree verdict, but we would not stand for that. It had to be acquittal, or I would have stayed there forever."

Juror Samuel F. Russell, the senior member of the panel, said: "There was nothing against Haywood but suspicion and inference, and when we came to do what the evidence in the jury room, it did not seem somehow to fit."

Samuel D. Gilman said: "I can not point out any particular instruction that seemed to decide the boys on a verdict of not guilty. I do not think there was any particular instruction that they debated. I believe it was the instructions generally. They could not point out else to me, but were convinced that the general tone seemed to indicate that the defendant ought to be free. Some of them seemed to think the instructions were very strong regarding corroborative testimony and some said that they could not be clear."

Didn't Believe Foreman.
There are many in Boise who incline to the opinion that a controlling influence with the jury was their disbelief of Orin's testimony.

When the jurors retired yesterday morning, shortly after 10 o'clock, they elected as foreman Thomas B. Gess. Then came the first formal ballot, which resulted:

Not guilty, 8; guilty, 2; blank, 2. The blank ballots were cast by Foreman Gess and A. P. Burns, both farmers. The second vote was 9 to 3, Gess voting with the majority. Then Burns joined in, making it 10 to 2. Here the jury remained a dead-lock for twelve hours, the two men who insisted on conviction in some degree being Thomas Powell and Samuel D. Gilman, ranchers.

Powell finally came over and Gilman was argued with and Judge Wood's instructions read. The jury then took a nap.

It was a little after 6 o'clock when Juror Gilman was aroused with the announcement that another vote was about to be taken.

No One to Stick With Him.
"Well," he said, "if anybody would stick with me I would stay here as long as any other rest of you; but as I am alone, I will fall in with your wishes."

The final vote was cast and William F. Haywood was declared acquitted of all complicity in the death of Former Governor Steunenberg.

Judge Wood arrived at the court house at 7:30. The attorneys arrived just before 8 o'clock.

Haywood entered court at 7:45 o'clock and smiled his customary greetings to lawyers and newspaper men.

He had lain down most of the night and had had some sleep.

At 7:58 o'clock the 12 jurors fell, the clerk being C. Rutledge, the

NEGRO CUTS HOLE IN WALL TO ESCAPE ARREST IN RAID

After cutting his way out of a house raided by the police early Sunday morning, Green Horton, a negro, started to face with Officer Maddox. The negro started toward the officer with the uplifted ax, and drawing his gun, the officer fired once, the ball entering the right breast of the negro, who at once surrendered.

Four other negroes, William Jones, William Taylor, Louis Williams and Jep Daniel, were also arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. This morning in police court the charges of gambling will be heard by the recorder. Last night at the hospital it was stated that Horton, the negro who was shot, had no immediate danger from the result of his wounds.

press the sentiments of my companions in jail, the courtesy extended to us by Sheriff Hodgins, former Sheriff Moseley and his deputies. "I do not blame Governor Gooding for the position he took."

"The trial has been fair, the judge impartial and the counsel adequate. We have no complaint to make. I do not desire to be understood as wishing to reflect upon the integrity of the state or the people of Idaho. Had I been governor at the time Steunenberg was murdered and had the evidence been brought to me that was brought to the governor of this state, I would have done probably just what Governor Gooding has done. Senator Borah has conducted his part of the case with marked fairness and with ability unsurpassed by counsel in any great murder trial in this country."

"Be Humble," said Murphy. John Murphy, general counsel for the Western Federation of Miners, who, in spite of the fact that he is wasted to a skeleton by consumption, has almost daily occupied a niche at the defense table throughout the trial, was unable to be present at the closing argument or scenes. He is now dying in the hospital here. Haywood called on him early today and the scene between the two is said to have been most affecting. Haywood lifted the right form of the dying man in his arms and Murphy is quoted as saying between gasps: "Bill, in this hour of your great triumph, be humble and thankful." Murphy is not expected to live many days.

The Saints That Have No Day.
With golden letters set in brave array Through out the church's records of the year, The great names of historic saints appear.
Those ringing names that, as a trumpet play Uplifting music o'er a sordid way, And sound high courage to our earthly dead; But, underneath those strains I seem To hear
The silence of the saints that have no day.

Martyrs, blood-red, and trodden souls, Care-grays,
In hierarchal pride no place they boast;
No candles burn for them where pilgrims pray, No haloes crown their dim and countless host;
And yet—their heaven of their humble Unrecognized, unguessed, avails the most.

SENATOR PETTUS IS COMING HOME

His Body Will Leave Asheville for Selma Today.

COLLEAGUES ACT AS ESCORT

United States Senators Will Accompany the Remains—Alabama Is Preparing a Funeral for the Senator.

Asheville, N. C., July 28.—The body of the late Edward W. Pettus, United States senator from Alabama, was embalmed today at Hot Springs, and will be shipped tomorrow afternoon to the senator's home in Selma, Ala. The body, which will leave on a special train, will be accompanied by a number of United States senators, who will act as an escort of honor.

Senatorial Committee Named.
Washington, July 28.—According to present arrangements the funeral of the late Senator Pettus, of Alabama, who died at Hot Springs, N. C., last night, will occur at Selma, Ala., Tuesday afternoon. The body will be taken aboard a train on the Southern railway leaving Hot Springs for Selma, Ala., at noon tomorrow. The funeral party consisting of representatives of both houses of congress and members of the late senator's family will arrive at Selma Tuesday morning, and the funeral exercises will occur at 5 o'clock the same afternoon. The late senator's granddaughters, Miss Bessie Roberts, and his grandson, Edward W. Pettus, Jr., will accompany the body to its resting place.

The committee appointed by Vice-President Fairbanks to represent the senate at the funeral at Selma follows: Senators Bankhead, Allison, Cullum, Dantz, Warren, Clay, Overman, Culberson, Scott, Knox, William Alden Smith, Rayner, Talliaferro, Mallory and Simmons.

Speaker Cannon has appointed the Alabama delegation to represent the house of representatives, consisting of Representatives Taylor, Wiley, Clayton, Bowie, Heflin, Burnett, Richardson and Underwood, and also representatives Brownlow, Padgett, Thomas, of North Carolina; Hays, of Virginia, and Glinney, of South Carolina.

Selma Prepares for Funeral.
Selma, Ala., July 28.—At a mass meeting of citizens, held this evening, largely attended, a committee, with C. W. Hooper as chairman, was appointed to make arrangements for the funeral of Senator Pettus. A committee on resolutions was also named. The Second Alabama Infantry, which is encamped in Selma at this time, has been ordered to remain in camp, and will, with the local troops of cavalry and battery, act as escort to the remains of Senator Pettus, a regiment of infantry, a troop of cavalry and a battery being regulation escort of a brigadier general, Senator Pettus' rank in the Confederate army. No definite information as to the time of the funeral has been received here, but it is expected that the remains will arrive Monday night, and the funeral be held from the late residence of the dead senator at noon either Tuesday or Wednesday.

Governor Johnston Will Be Senator.
Birmingham, Ala., July 28.—The successor to Senator E. W. Pettus, who died yesterday in Hot Springs, N. C., will be former Governor Joseph E. Johnston, of Birmingham. At the state primaries last year, candidates for the alternate senatorships were voted on, and Senator J. H. Bankhead received the highest vote. He was therefore given the first vacancy, upon Senator Morgan's death. Governor Johnston received the next highest vote, and will therefore be elected by the legislature in joint session one week from Wednesday, to the second vacancy, caused by Senator Pettus' death.

Governor Johnston is 64 years old, has a fine war record and has always taken a lively interest in Confederate affairs. He served as governor of Alabama from 1895 to 1900. He has always been prominent in public affairs in the state, and one of the most memorable campaigns of Alabama was that between Senator Morgan and Governor Johnston for the senate, in which Johnston was defeated. Johnston will not only be elected for the unexpired term of Senator Pettus, but will be elected also for the additional term to which Pettus was recently elected, which expires March 4, 1915.

First Death From Heat.
Oleypas, La., July 28.—What is believed to be the first death from heat in the history of this section of Louisiana occurred today, when a man named Clements, employed by a local lumber company, was overcome, and died a few hours later. Clements' first name is not known here, and efforts to ascertain where he formerly lived have proved fruitless. He is supposed to have come from Memphis, Tenn. The temperatures today have been high, the mercury ranging between 90 and 100 degrees.

Receiving Encouraging Letters.
Columbia, Ga., July 28.—(Special.)—Captain Wiley Williams, who has announced as candidate for congressman, subject to the democratic primary of next summer, is receiving many encouraging letters from over the state, tending support.

New Steamship Line.
Mexico City, July 28.—According to information received in shipping circles in this capital today, the Wilson line, under the direction of the Neptune Navigation Company, will soon be plying between New Orleans and Mexican and Central American ports.

House Given a Sail.
(From The Boston Journal.)
A remarkable feat in structure moving was accomplished at Lynn yesterday afternoon, when a two and a half-story frame house, weighing 125 tons, was taken from the foundation on a high cliff, carried to the water front, where it was loaded on a lighter and floated to Winthrop, 15 miles away.

Hundreds of people lined the shore to witness the delicate undertaking, and few expected the lighter and its unique cargo to round the Nathan point without toppling over into the water.

The house, which was owned by Miss Bessie Underwood, had to be moved to make way for the new shore drive which is being laid out through that section. Everything went along smoothly until the water edge was reached and the house placed on the lighter. The whole outfit got stuck in the mud, and another lighter was hurried to the scene.

The two lighters got about two miles out, when the services of one of the lighters was dispensed with, while the other carried the house safely to its destination.

The contractor who turned the trick was John C. Foley, and the lighters were furnished by the McKie Lighter Company, of Boston. The two tugs were the Skyla and the Irving Rose.

In order to prevent the lighter from capsizing, it was heavily ballasted, so that the combined weight of the lighter and the house was close to 400 tons.

As Others See Us.
Some of the people in Boston who are throwing thirty-nine fits over the railroad merger, instead ofavoring a "bigger, better and busier" city, appear to prefer a slimmer, sloppier and slower one.

"CHURCH OF THE DEVIL ORGANIZED IN ATLANTA" 2 OTHERS HURT

Dr. Holderby So Termed the Mormon Church in a Sermon Yesterday in Which He Answered Attack Made on Christian Doctrines.

The lecture room of Moore Memorial church, which is being used for Sunday services while the church is undergoing repairs, was filled to overflow yesterday as Dr. Holderby gave a strong denunciation of the falsity of the teachings of Mormonism as ever fell from a pulpit in Atlanta.

The text was from Matthew xxiv, 24: "For there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall show great signs and wonders; in so much that it will be possible they shall deceive the very elect."

"From certain newspaper reports it appears that a man representing himself to be a Mormon made a vicious attack upon the Christian religion in this city on last Sunday, and pronounced the church, which was not the inspired word, to say, is a libel upon our Christian religion, this country and our own United States.

"Every charge made by him is absolutely false. His charge that Christians teach the doctrine that God is a vengeful, merciless tyrant and that God is a monster, is another false statement. The Christian religion teaches no such doctrine, no true minister of Jesus Christ preaches any such doctrine. It is not right that such false statements concerning the Christian religion should go unchallenged and unrebuked. Let the people beware of these insidious and dangerous teachers.

"My text this morning are the words of Jesus Christ himself, and his predictions were made nineteen hundred years ago, and it has long since come to pass. The words were not the inspired words, but Christ Himself speaking as God, therefore, as one knowing His prophecy as to Himself, His death, His resurrection, His burial, His arising on the third day, have all come true. His foretelling of the destruction of the temple forty years after His death, also true. The prophecy of my text has been fulfilled. There have arisen false Christs and false prophets, and they are in the world today. The devil has power to do strange works, he is cunning with false spirits, false writing and performing strong miracles. These are not done in the name of Christ, but are done by the devil. The world will be deceived, or rather some will be deceived, and go over to these false teachers. The elect even of God have been fooled by these false sayings.

"Among the many false religions in the world today is the religion of the Mormon church, or Latter Day Saints, as they call themselves. The whole system of the Mormon religion is a lie, and its doctrines were inspired by the devil. Joseph Smith, the founder of this so-called church, was one of the vilest of men. He called himself the prophet of God, and pretended to have a revelation from heaven, and through his infamous lies ten thousands of ignorant people have been deceived. Many happy homes destroyed. Women have been debauched and many bloody crimes have been committed.

Promises Earthly Paradise.
"And all this in the name of Jesus Christ and under the guise of religion. The Mormon religion appeals to the lower fleshly appetites and to the passions of men. It promises a paradise to its followers here on earth, to the poor, deluded victims who have been entrapped into this so-called church of Christ. This Mormon doctrine perverts the word of God, and puts the Bible to an unholy use. The book of Mormon is the Bible of this deluded and degraded sect. The doctrines claimed to be revealed in this book are absurd and blasphemous. Polygamy is both taught and practiced by this so-called church, and that, to in face and open defiance of the laws of the United States, is a celestial marriage, which is taught nowhere in God's word. The religion of the Mormon church is a disgrace to the Christian church, and an insult to Jesus Christ, and I am surprised that this government allows a religion that debauches happy homes and lowers womanhood to exist under our flag.

"It should be challenged by every teacher of the word. Its mission is to deceive and lead to ruin, and to destroy the souls of men. It is a religion of the devil, and its followers are the poor, deluded victims who have been entrapped into this so-called church of Christ. This Mormon doctrine perverts the word of God, and puts the Bible to an unholy use. The book of Mormon is the Bible of this deluded and degraded sect. The doctrines claimed to be revealed in this book are absurd and blasphemous. Polygamy is both taught and practiced by this so-called church, and that, to in face and open defiance of the laws of the United States, is a celestial marriage, which is taught nowhere in God's word. The religion of the Mormon church is a disgrace to the Christian church, and an insult to Jesus Christ, and I am surprised that this government allows a religion that debauches happy homes and lowers womanhood to exist under our flag.

"The Mormon church is a religion of the devil, and its followers are the poor, deluded victims who have been entrapped into this so-called church of Christ. This Mormon doctrine perverts the word of God, and puts the Bible to an unholy use. The book of Mormon is the Bible of this deluded and degraded sect. Interest Centers in the

BEFORE HOUSE ADJOURNSDisfranchisement Measures and the Candler Bill, Which Proposes Enlargement of Powers of Railroad Commission, for Discussion Today.Until the prohibition bill is passed by the house and sent back to the senate for confirmation of amendments which will be tacked on, remaining interest of the members of the house will be centered in the committee meetings.
This results from the ultimatum of the prohibitors that no other measures are to be acted upon by the house until the prohibition bill is a certainty.Of the administration reforms which are at present in the committee rooms and which will be reported upon after the prohibition bill is passed, two will come up for debate in these committees this afternoon.The Candler bill, which seeks to enlarge the powers of the railroad commission of Georgia and to increase its membership from three to five, will be heard by the committee on railroads, Mr. Covington, of Colquitt, chairman, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. At this time Mr. Candler, the author of the bill, will speak before the committee, urging its favorable recommendation just as it stands. It is recalled that the senate recently amended this measure by striking the number of commissioners from five to three.Disfranchisement Bill.
At the same time the committee on constitutional amendments will discuss the three disfranchisement measures before that body and which have been tended to get the members, both of the committee and the house, up in the air as to just where they stand.These three bills are: The administration bill, as introduced by Mr. Williams, of Laurens, which provides an educational qualification clause in addition to the others.
That of Mr. Hall, of Bibb, which provides that only those voters who are now enrolled on the registration list, or who may become of age later, shall be eligible to vote, unless they can produce receipts for all taxes since 1877 and which is further supported by a bill which makes it a misdemeanor to pay another's taxes for the purpose of registering him as a voter.The Payne measure, which dis-franchises all persons with so much as an eighth of negro blood in their veins.
The administration bill has been reported upon favorably once, and returned to the committee by the house, for further consideration in conjunction with the Hall bill.The bill by Mr. Hall, which does not affect the constitution, but simply makes it a misdemeanor to pay another's taxes for the purpose of registering him, and which is a branch of his disfranchisement bill has been favorably reported by the general judiciary committee.And there you are.
Mr. Hall contends that his disfranchisement bill is in conflict with the administration measure, and both cannot be passed and enacted into laws.Mr. Williams, of Laurens, the author of the administration bill, contends that the bills contain entirely different subject matter and both can be passed, while Mr. Payne, of Worth, states that his is the only measure which effectually disfranchises the undesirable colored vote.It promises to be a lively session this afternoon.
The railroad men have been heard in opposition to the Candler measure to enlarge the powers of the railroad commission and now the author is to be heard in its support.In addition to this, each of the other four odd committees are set for meetings this week, which will insure a busy time during the afternoon.

FINAL ACTION TUESDAY ON PROHIBITION BILLAntis in House Hope to Modify the Measure by Tacking on Amendments.GALLERIES CLEARED DURING THE DEBATEProhibitionists Have Prepared Two Amendments Which They Intend to Tack—A Recurrence of Spectacular Scenes of Last Wednesday.All attention is centered for the week on Tuesday, when the prohibition bill is to be passed by the house. That it will be passed there is no doubt, and the chief interest is on the amendments which will be authorized by the house.The measure will be amended. The prohibitionists, who number three-fourths of the house, have said so, and have prepared two amendments which are sure to be tacked on. This will send it back to the senate.The amendments which are certain of passage are those which regulate the sale of alcohol for medicinal and chemical purposes and govern the sale of intoxicants by drug stores when prescribed by physicians for medicinal purposes.The opponents of the bill, realizing that all hope of defeat is gone, will content themselves with the most satisfactory amendment possible to be had.
A great effort is being made to have the bill so amended as to have the operation of the law to become effective on January 1, 1909, instead of 1908, and to raise the state license from $300 to $1,000 a year.

Believe They Have Chances.

They believe that they have a chance for the amendment to be adopted, as many prohibitionists have declared their willingness to agree to this amendment.This, and probably a few more minor amendments, will be offered by the opponents of the measure in an effort to have the drastic measure, as it now stands, toned down a bit, before enactment, will be the sum total of the amendments offered.It has been positively denied that any sort of dilatory tactics by reason of padding amendments will be sent to the clerk's desk to delay the final vote on the bill, which is set for 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.Instead of the spectacular scenes which ensued on last Wednesday, when the bill first came up for passage, the scenes on Tuesday will be just the reverse, and the bill will be passed as quietly as the graduation at a female seminary when the program is arranged and rehearsed months ahead.

Special Order of Day.

Below is the special order which fixes unalterably the procedure of the day.1. Ordered that senate bill No. 1 be made the special and continuing order for Tuesday, July 29, immediately after the reading of the journal.2. That the previous question on the bill and all amendments be considered ordered at 4 o'clock that afternoon; that the bill be then read a third time and the yeas and nays taken thereon.3. That at the hour of 4 o'clock, without further debate or motion, the vote shall be taken on all amendments offered, the same to be voted on in the order sent up, and then, after all are voted on, the main bill—the yeas and nays to be called on by the speaker on amendment and on the bill when asked by any member, but no explanatory remarks to be offered or allowed to anyone except on the final vote on the bill.4. That all amendments desired to be offered to the bill shall be on the clerk's desk by 4:30 o'clock.5. That at the hour of 4 o'clock, without further debate or motion, the vote
shall be taken on all amendments offered, the same to be voted on in the order sent up, and then, after all are
voted on, the main bill—the yeas and
nays to be called on by the speaker
on amendment and on the bill when asked
by any member, but no explanatory re-
one except on the final vote on the bill.6. That the galleries and floor of the house be kept clear of all visitors during the entire pendency of the bill.
From this it is seen that there will be little time for display of any kind of the measure, will assign to each of the speakers opposing the measure that amount of time which he may consume in voicing his protest against the bill as it now stands, and appealing for a compromise putting the bill into effect in January, 1909.Ten-Minute Talks.

Methodist Church Yesterday.Atlanta was abuzz yesterday afternoon and at night with prohibition rallies, all of which were well attended, and at some of which much enthusiasm was manifest.In the afternoon there was a big rally greatly enthused his audience.At the Woodward Avenue Baptist church Colonel R. N. Hardeman, who is always an interesting speaker on any temperance subject, held an audience in rapid succession for nearly an hour.At the Capitol Avenue Baptist church Colonel W. J. Flanders, of Johnson county, talked to a packed house, and gave new impetus to the strong prohibition sentiment in this section.Services were also held at Walker Street Methodist church, and a number of others of the leading churches.

commissioners from five to seven, the Columbus, Ga., July 28.—(Special.)—A. C.

Connelley, wife and son, will leave tomorrow on a visit of five weeks to Nova Scotia.each, except the concluding addresses.
These speeches will be for the benefit of the members and the press. By the terms of the special order, no visitors will be allowed either on the floor of the house or in the gallery during the pendency of the bill. So appeals to the gallery will be impossible.That the gallery is cleared will not mean that the visitors will be excluded from the capitol. Already notice has been served that the W. C. T. U. ladies will again serve free lunch in the corridors on that day, as was done last Wednesday. The friends and opponents of the bill will be in the halls in great numbers, and it is being arranged to flash signals to the corridors and grounds of the capitol that day as soon as the bill is announced passed.By calling "the previous question" at 4 o'clock, which cuts off all debate, it is expected to have the roll called, the result of the vote made and the result announced by 5 o'clock.
The friends of the bill are planning to celebrate its passage Tuesday night by suitable services throughout the city.Until this bill is acted upon, no other important legislation will be considered, according to the "ultimatum" given out week before last and strictly adhered to. After its passage the administration measures will be considered.Will Return to Columbus.

QUIET THIS WEEKWork of Completing Reservoir Will Be Pushed.

MAY DELAY PUMP PURCHASE

Conference Between Special Council Committee and County Board Will Take Place Some Time This Week—Will Discuss Convict Labor.There will probably be nothing doing in the pump campaign this week unless there is more electioneering by the advocates of the different styles of pumps under consideration.The work of completing the new reservoir is to be vigorously pushed. The conference between the special council committee and the county board will take place this week, and an agreement about the convict labor will doubtless be reached.In the meantime the lonesome reservoir is doing its level best to keep the city supplied with clear water and the one pump upon which the people must rely for water will keep pumping away trying not to break down or give up from overwork and nervous prostration.

May Be More Delay.

Since council has unexpectedly stumbled up against the question, "Do we really need a pump?" after three months of investigation, meetings and hot air, there is a possibility of more delay next Monday about the purchase of a new pump.It is stated that when the bids for a pump were advertised only certain types were mentioned, and the centrifugal pump was not named. It was said that bids on only the types of pumps mentioned would be considered. Nevertheless, the centrifugal pump got into the game. Now, the argument is being used that as one concern which manufacture centrifugal pumps has been allowed to make a bid, why it was never asked that the only fair thing to do would be to put everything back into the jug and let other makers of centrifugal pumps bid.More Delay, Maybe More Money.
Members of council now claim that delay has saved the city money, and this is answered with the statement that a little more delay might have saved money; and if all bids were declared off and new ones advertised for there would be other manufacturers of pumps, and especially of the centrifugal pump, who would enter the competition.The special council committee appointed by the mayor to confer with the board of county commissioners about the completion of the new reservoir will meet today and steps taken for a joint meeting with the county board some day this week. When council was met Monday it is believed that a satisfactory report about the reservoir will be made by the committee, and that the work will soon begin.CITY CAMPAIGN way this week and the candidates who tling in real earnest.The list of candidates is closed and not he desires these offices filled by the ple at the ballot box. This will merely be an expression of opinion and may not be binding upon the city executive committee.The sub-committee of the executive

ATLANTA, GEORGIATIPPING IS COMMENDED
BY REV. JAMES W. LEERev. James W. Lee preached to all who waited upon the public a good one, and he encouraged his congregation to make a habit of "tipping," for, said he, this makes those who wait upon you more polite and appreciative, and said he: "I would rather buy kindness than not have it at all." He said that this practice was indulged in to a very great extent in Europe.Dr. Lee, in closing his sermon, said that in the old country that the people and preachers seem to have a love for the old principles and doctrines of Christ, and he urged the members of his congregation to hold to the old foundation truths of the Bible.STEVE JOHNSTON'S REPLY

Jackson, Mr. Johnson thereupon fur-ing card:

"To the Voters of the Sixth Ward:
"I have read with much interest the pronouncement of my distinguished opponent, the Hon. Henry S. Jackson, in yesterday's paper.
"It is somewhat ambiguous. Boiled down to a proper consistency the substance, it seems, is as follows:
"If the people of my ward don't know what they want, and I know what it is, if elected to council I will support it." Permit me to say: So bill I support it!"

DOBBS' NASHVILLE TEAM IS BILL FOR TODAY

Edited by Alex LynnCRACKERS BEGIN ON LAST WEEKNashville and Montgomery Wind Up Home Stay.While We Are at Home Memphis is Flying Around Out West on Foreign Soil, and Week May Help Us in

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY.

Nashville in Atlanta, Ponce de Leon park. Game called at 4 o'clock.
Montgomery in Birmingham.
Shreveport in New Orleans.
Memphis in Little Rock.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Memphis 5, Little Rock 0.
New Orleans 7, Shreveport 5.The Crackers begin on the last week of the home stay this afternoon, when the Nashville Dobbers open a series of three engagements at Ponce de Leon park. This bunch is evidently playing a little baseball, to judge from the hefty break that occurred with Memphis last week.Down this way the Dobbers were not counted on much to aid us in pulling down the batters and their recent achievement came as quite a surprise.
However, Memphis got more than was coming to her anyway and it would have been in keeping with the situation if the Dobbers had taken even more.
After Nashville is disposed of on Wednesday the Crackers come, and as the home brigade has been doing business with the strong westerners there is every reason to believe that the good work will be continued and the rest of the season at home will be just as successful as that which is now a thing of the past.If Pitcher McKenzie, who debuted on Saturday, can duplicate at will such a performance as he turned up then we have another good slaban in our department, one that will be easy picking for any of them.
The youngster from the South Atlantic whom we took in tow for the modest sum of $200 looks as if he will prove to be worth many times that figure.

Broke in Auspiciously.

When a box artist breaks in so auspiciously it is a good sign that there is something to him. Under new and strange surroundings it is an up-hill fight for the most of them, especially when they come from a lesser satellite as McKenzie did. Down home he had nothing like so large a sea of faces to perform before, and the new park he was working in for the first time was large, oh, so large. To escape from it if the worst came to the worst would require a long dash for liberty. All of this makes a staunch up-against-it proposition, and yet he delivered, which is indeed a good omen.Even if he doesn't do so well, there is Grant Schopp, who undoubtedly has a warm collection of box things. We will need all of them and the best they have in them during this long trip that will wait us from pillar to post until September arrives.Memphis will be flying around out west on foreign soil during this week, while we are at home, and the end of it may bring a better tale than Saturday did, when we crawled a little.How to Get Rid of Prejudices.
(From The Troy, N. Y. Times.) There is nothing like getting well acquainted to knock erroneous notions out of people's minds. At least two-thirds of the complications of the past which led to serious disagreement if not to open hostility have been traceable to the differences due to distance and lack of close intercourse. Modern methods, which by means of steamship and cable lines are bringing everybody into touch, are steadily doing away with causes of misunderstanding. Intelligent and unbiased men and women, no matter what their own beliefs, political religious and social, who travel about the world and learn to know the natives of other regions, have most of their prejudices removed and find that there is a great common humanity where all can meet on fairly equal terms.DRINK A

Atlanta Club at His Farm Yesterday.The Atlanta baseball team, directors of the club and several invited guests were given an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue by Mayor Joyner, at his country home on the Marietta car line yesterday. The party left the city shortly after 11 o'clock in the morning, and the totemhouse repast was ready for them when they arrived. It was quite an outing for the athletes who seldom get a chance to attend anything on this order because of the duties that require their presence at Ponce de Leon park every week day, and all of them enjoyed every moment of their stay in the country.All those things that go to make up a real Georgia barbecue were on the menu, and withal it was a delightful affair. Of course as trained athletes were on deck, the usual beverage part of the program was not carried out, but the players all voice the opinion that the feast could not have been more delicious under any circumstances. The idea of the mayor was an excellent one, and no better entertainment for the players could have been provided.The wives of the players and directors were also the mayor's guests, and after the dinner were shown around the farm, of which Mayor Joyner is rightly proud. The whole party returned to the city in the late afternoon.

Taylorville 17, Kingston 6.

Taylorville, Ga., July 28.—(Special.)—In a very poorly played game, which was full of errors and almost devoid of interest, the Taylorville aggregation defeated the Kingston bunch on the Kingston diamond Saturday by the score of 17 to 6. A most interesting game was expected, as the last time these two teams met the game resulted in a tie, which could not be played off at that time on account of rain. The spectators were very much disappointed, however, when this game proved to be such a one-sided affair. Freeman, batter of Taylorville's famous scribbler, was in the box for the visitors, and was very much in evidence. The total number of strikeouts to his credit was eleven, while his opponent could fan only six of the Taylorsville swatters. Batteries—Kingston: Rodgers and Broadwater. Taylorville: Freeman and Buford.

EXHIBITION GAMES.

Albany—Albany 5, Cleveland (Americans) 7.
Waterbury—Detroit (Americans) 6, Waterbury, Conn., 2.Detroit is accused by Cleveland of being a rowdy team, but the following little story of the old days from The St. Louis Republic shows that at one time the Tigers were nice."George Mullen says that one of the most strenuous experiences in his life was his travels around the country with the Detroit team several years ago. At the time Detroit had such men as 'Ducky' Holmes, Jimmy Casey, Jimmy Barrett, Norman Elberfeld, 'Kid' Gies-son and others, who would as soon start a fight as steal a base. They were of that style of ball players who would take a punch at another. 'Well, if you don't take a punch at him I will.'""It seems that this aggression of one of it put 'Muggsy' McGraw out of business on one occasion, and as events proved it put the aggressive leader out of baseball for good, as far as the playing end of it is concerned. Detroit was playing Baltimore at the latter city and McGraw, who is not the most loved of ball players, was particularly cranky that day.

"He got 'Ducky' Holmes worked up, and as the 'Duck' is no angel he told the Baltimore crowd to look out. The second time 'Ducky' came up McGraw told him to look out for himself if he got as far as third, and Holmes replied that he (McGraw) might be up against it himself. 'Ducky' got a hit and on coming down to first made a dive feet first for Dan McGann, who quickly stepped out of the way."Ducky" was cautioned going to second, as Jimmy Williams and Gilbert were well liked, but when he started for third on an infield play everybody knew something was doing. McGraw did not move, and Holmes came at him like a catapult, and jumping high in the air, slid into 'Muggsy' and struck him on the knee with both feet."Down went the Baltimore third baseman, and when he came up he made a punch at Holmes, who retaliated, he hitting him a love tap on the jaw. Roger Bresnahan, who was in the outfield, and Joe Kelley, came running in, but by the time they reached the infield the trouble was over, and McGraw left the field, never to return again as a regular player. Bresnahan went to third and the game proceeded."MANY NEW ATTRACTIONS OFFERED BY WHITE CITYIn these midsummer days, when cool spots are at a premium and cool breezes are as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth, there is no more ideal recreation resort in the state than beautiful White City.Here, next to Grant Park, and really a valuable addition to the city's beautiful playground, are spread in profusion in nooks under great shady trees, benches and seats enough to accommodate thousands of visitors. Wedmeyer's famous band plays all the afternoon and evening, and the park is made into one great open-air, outdoor concert hall, cool always and fragrant with the commingled odor of shrubs, trees and flowers.One who loves solitude can find it in the retreats made by the great forest of shady trees that make a wall around the park. The lover of the life of vim and zest can join with the great throng of pleasure seekers that crowd the park daily and thus make the slow summer afternoon or evening a thing of enjoyment and not just of toleration.In the merry semi-circle of amusements the management of the splendid new park has provided attractions that will appeal to all classes of people of all tastes and of all ages from youth and maturity and to old age.The miniature railroad that travels at a fast clip around the pretty lake in thecenter of the grounds, although popular with all, appeals especially to the imaginative mind and heart of the child.The great mammoth toboggan, fun-dishes excitement and amusement to old and young. The circle swing is about the nearest thing to a flying machine now in practical operation, and the one at White City is a delightful riding device, which is increasing in popularity daily. Nothing is more cooling or enjoyable than a few minutes spin on the Ferris wheel, or a jaunt on the carousal.The lake is well provided with boats, and rowing is a popular pastime at the resort. The Haunted House, which has just been completed, is the only one ever erected in Georgia, and is an illusion which never fails to appeal to the curiosities of its patrons.The Fun Factory, another new attraction, has probably produced more genuine laughter at the park than any other attraction on the grounds. Boxball, which is first cousin to teapins, is a comparatively new game, with all the merits and none of the objection of the old-style bowling game.There are many other attractions, including the cave of the winds, Japanese bowling, a vaudeville theater and an electric theater.Wedmeyer's band gave two concerts yesterday, and a special program was arranged for each.

The engagement of the George Fawcett the farewell performance coming on Saturday evening, August 3. The company then go to New York city, and from there to their country home, so that one who remains to see the Fawcett Company as it now exists. Their departure will undoubtedly cause a great deal of regret, as they have become very popular here, and it is to be hoped that they will return next season.The week will be devoted to "East Lynne," a play which holds a unique position on the English-speaking stage. "East Lynne" is a play, the story of which is known to most theaters throughout the country, yet one which never fails to demonstrate its popularity whenever produced. The emotional drama will linger on the stage a long while after the farce comedy, no matter how successful it may be for the moment, has subsided, and utterly failed to attract. In the hands of such competent players as the Grand opera house now presents to Atlanta theatergoers, "East Lynne" is destined to be a popular favorite for years to come.Miss Jane Wheatley is certain to give an excellent portrayal of the wife, Lady Isabelle, happy and contented at first in her husband's love, but who, in a moment of jealousy, leaves him and her children, sloping with Sir Francis Levison.From all account DeWitt Jennings is cool, sneering and villainous as Sir Francis Levison, and he is said to assume the role with adebonair heartlessness that makes the character as repulsive and artistic. Regan Hugston will play the part of Archibald Carlyle, the lawyer, himself too straightforward to suspect others' treachery, and too absorbed in his business affairs to perceive the web of suspicious circumstances surrounding him, and which excite his wife's jealousy.Grace Sherwood will play the part of Miss

VIRGINIA TO BUCK FEDERAL JUDGE

Gov. Swanson, in an interview, Denounces Pritchard.

PRITCHARD VIOLATED LAW

Swanson Says That Judge Issued Injunction in Defiance of Federal Statute—If Pritchard Is Right, Then the States Are Gone

Richmond, Va., July 28.—When asked as to the Virginia situation in regard to the rate case, and for his views and position thereon, Governor Swanson said that the case here was different from that in North Carolina. No law establishing rates in Virginia has yet been perfected, he said, so that it could be enforced; that under the constitution of Virginia, the paramount authority for fixing rates in Virginia was vested in the corporation commission. Continuing the governor said:

"Under the constitution to enable the corporation commission to fix a rate, three steps are necessary.

"First, to give notice to the transportation company to appear before the corporation commission.

"Second, to give a hearing and enter an order.

"Third, by the very terms of the constitution itself it must be published four weeks in a paper of general circulation in Richmond before it can go into effect.

"The corporation commission was prevented from perfecting the act necessary to fix the rate by the injunction of Judge Pritchard, directing them not to publish their order in the newspapers as ordered by the constitution. There is no 2-cent rate law in Virginia, and none that I can enforce.

Governor Swanson Attacks Judge Pritchard.

"If the corporation commission should perfect the order establishing a 2-cent rate in Virginia, all the powers possessed by me as governor to the fullest possible extent would be exercised by me for its enforcement and to compel obedience to the order by the railroad companies. As the chief executive of the state, I can do nothing to enforce such law until it has been completed by the corporation commission.

The order of Judge Pritchard in the Virginia case is outrageous. He is fixing a rate by the corporation commission is a legislative act, and yet he restrains this legislative body in Virginia from doing what is absolutely necessary to complete an act of legislation under our constitution. The corporation commission is paramount to the general assembly of Virginia in fixing rates.

"Judge Pritchard had no more right to enjoin the legislature from passing an act fixing the 2-cent rate than he had to enjoin the corporation commission, and he is clearly prohibited by federal statute from issuing a restraining order. If it is a legislative body, as he claims, he certainly has no right to enjoin a state legislative body in one of its necessary processes of enacting laws. When he tries to do this, he is assuming authority possessed by no federal judge, and his order should be disobeyed.

"To acquiesce in a federal judge's injunction arresting the legislative body of a state in their processes of enacting legislation is destructive of state sovereignty and of free institutions. This order of Judge Pritchard makes the Virginia case broader and far more important than any question of passenger rates.

"If it is sustained it means that the federal judiciary may exercise supervisory powers over legislative bodies of the various states and that these bodies can only perform legislation when they have the consent of federal judges to do so.

More to Follow.
(From The Hartford Courant.)
The truck about desiring to reduce the capital may be taken for what it is worth. It makes some people smile—as does the dividend. The central and important fact is that whoever holds 100 shares of the partnership, worth at the present sale $30,000, will soon have the same 100 shares and $20,000 of bonds, worth presumably about 100, 12 per cent if he holds on to the bonds and about 100 and begin paying 4 per cent dividends, so that the shareholder will gain by a reduction of the market value of the shares so that it has less to pay to him.

So far as Connecticut shareholders are concerned, there is a lot of them, the bond division is the least attractive way in which the bonds can be sold. The bonds are taxable in this state and the net return is only 3.6 per cent. That makes the present share stand for 11.2 per cent a year instead of 12. If the shares pay 4 per cent at the completion of the deal, the company will be a partnership and not a limited liability concern, as a money-maker, it is there on the spot every time.

1898, the company made a bond division of 100 per cent and now it makes one of 12 per cent. The company will get besides paying cash dividends ranging all the way from 4 per cent for a short time to 10 per cent for several years past. Its capital is $12,000,000 and its shares have no par value. It is a partnership and not a limited liability concern, as a money-maker, it is there on the spot every time.

Its legs and wings are so set that it can swim forward or backward, just as it will. It was hatched early in the summer, and has grown as fast as the others in the same brood.

FAWCETT STOCK COMPANY DISBANDS ON SATURDAY, AFTER SPLENDID SEASON OF PLEASANTLY CLOSED

By SIDNEY ORMOND.

Saturday night will see the close of the summer engagement of the Fawcett Stock Company at the Grand, and the departure of a majority of its members for New York will follow quickly thereafter.

This fact will cause general regret among the theater-goers of Atlanta, who have patronized the company liberally.

One thing was clearly demonstrated by the Fawcett Stock Company: Atlanta will support summer stock, and support it handsomely.

Up to this season summer amusement had been regarded as a hazardous undertaking. There was no question about the popular demand for it. To provide a form of amusement at popular prices that would draw therein lay the difficulty. Atlanta is critical. Time and again a wall has gone up that those who remained in the city during the heated months were deprived of the amusements other cities had.

Then a company—a company which had no good elsewhere—would be engaged, only to be greeted with a succession of flops. Somehow, it would seem that one-half the audience paid its money for the sole privilege of heaving a sledge hammer at the moment the curtain went down on the last act.

It became a dangerous venture to bring a stock company to Atlanta. The coming of the Fawcett stock came near to putting the professional knacker out of commission. Barring the first two weeks, the productions of the company, which is the most admirably balanced that has ever played in Atlanta, have been splendid. Each has been a stage success, and has made an impression fully as favorable as professionally. Their winter's work will be watched with interest this season.

The departure of the members of the company will be a cause for regret among hundreds of people who have met them. Socially, they have made an impression fully as favorable as professionally. Their winter's work will be watched with interest this season.

Miss Wheatley a Success.
Miss Jane Wheatley will probably resume her engagement with Belasco in "The Girl From the Golden West," in which she made a decided hit last season. Miss Wheatley has had a stage career of nine years. Last summer she was in stock in Providence, last winter she played the leading role in "The Girl From the Golden West," and before that she was with Alice Fisher in "The School for Husbands." One of her most interesting experiences was in Washington, where she was connected with a company putting on operatic productions of Shakespeare. She also has been under study to Sadie Martinot in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" and "His Excellency Governor." Her Mary of Magdalene in "The Holy City" she regards as one of her best bits of work. Miss Wheatley shows promise for the future. She is an indefatigable worker. When she came to this city, she was a novice. Her mother were in a bad way. From the moment of her arrival new life and enthusiasm was infused into the members, and success was pulled out of what promised failure.

Her First Appearance.
Ask Phillis Sherwood when she began her career on the stage, and she will wrinkle up her brow in a humorous fashion, while a quizzical light will come into her eyes, as she tells you she can't remember. This is literally true. It fell out thus: Her mother was playing a soubrette part in Philadelphia. Little Miss Phillis was a few months old—scarcely old enough for a walking part. One night before going on her mother happened to have a cold, and she was in the wings, punched a hole in an orange and left the young lady in apparent contentment. Suddenly there was a tumultuous roar of laughter from the audience. The little tot had crawled out on the stage, and was blinking and cooing in the time-light. She had made the hit of the evening.

Phyllis Sherwood began her education shortly after this experience. At the age of 19 months she was placed in a Catholic institution, where she remained until 13 years of age. That was four years ago, so you see the secret is out!

She has played with John Marvin and Marion Manola, with Bertha Galloway, in "The Little Princess," in "Oliver Twist" with Raymond Hitchcock, in "Easy Dawson" and last summer was with the T. Daniel Fawcett Stock Company in "The Girl From the Golden West," in "The Charity Ball" and other parts. Last winter she starred in "The Volunteer Organist."

Phyllis Sherwood, because of her youth and cleverness, has attracted more attention than any member of the stock company. Her work in "The Charity Ball" and "The Girl From the Golden West" will long be remembered in Atlanta. If she is not heard from before very long, the predictions of Atlanta theater-goers amount to but little.

Mrs. Sherwood, her mother, has had a varied stage career. Her most conspicuous success was in "Jane," with Frank Mayo. She was also with Dan Daly for three years. In only one part this season has she been given an opportunity to do her best work. As the piano player in "The Cowboy and the Lady," she was excruciatingly funny. Mrs. Sherwood and her daughter have no definite plans for the winter.

Regan Hughton, has been acting for about six years. His most conspicuous work was in Belasco's revival of "The Heart of Maryland." Last year he was with Mr. Fawcett in Baltimore. Hughton is a young man who refused to become a matinee idol. He is extremely modest, of a studious turn, and has a remarkable memory. He is greatly interested in theosophy. He has done some conspicuously good work this season, and some that was not so good. But this is not to be wondered at, when one considers the demands made on a leading man. He is young and he will be heard from, for he is anxious to learn, work hard and doesn't think he has arrived.

DeWitt Jennings will take a prominent part in Henry B. Harris' "The Struggle Everlasting" next year. Mr.

He says his mother's kicking isn't a steer Because she thinks I ain't refined
I'd like to meet her, just to call her bluff!
Gee, I'm so darned jined I pretty near Have apoplexy every time I hear A phrase that ain't grammatical! It's
To have to stand and take that kind of guff.
But I'll call mother proper, never fear.
She wants to catch a duke for Sister Sue

And so she thinks that it would never

Because I have a pair of twinklin' feet.
To let me in the family circle—pooh!
I'll simply paralyze her when we meet.

MISS JANE WHEATLEY.

Jennings is one of the best character actors who has played in Atlanta in some time. He has been cast for all sorts of parts and has invested each with humor and feeling. Miss Conroy, his wife of only a few months, will not be on the stage this season. Miss Conroy's success in "The Cowboy and the Lady" was immense. By a strange freak of fate, Mr. Jennings and Miss Conroy have never played opposite as wife or sweetheart during their ten weeks' engagement.

George Shroeder, in the eyes of many, is the most finished actor in the company. His villains ring true in every line. He will be with Fritz Scheff next season.

Frank Craven, who has kept Atlanta audiences in a continual state of excitement this season, will be with some prominent company next year. Just which one he does not know, but he has several offers. Craven is a coming town. The town has been "west" since its founding, nearly fifty years ago.

Allen Fawcett will return to the Fawcett Stock Company in Baltimore. To Mr. Fawcett's excellent judgment is largely due the success of the season. His Joe in "The Cowboy and the Lady" was a little piece of work. It is pity he did not have other opportunities so good.

Brandon Hurst, extended notice of whom was made some days ago, will go with Foxman this season.

Burt Caruth goes with Bret Harris' "Calamity Jane."

Pure Food Law
EFFECTIVE SOON

P. A. Methrin Has Been Made Pure Food Inspector.

On Thursday, August 1, the pure food law of Georgia will go into effect, and after that date was to the manufacturers and sellers of adulterated foodstuffs in Georgia.

In anticipation of this law, the department of agriculture at the state capital has been flooded with requests and checks from various manufacturers without the state, who are anxious to brand all consignments of foodstuffs shipped into this state properly, and are ordering the special stamps for this purpose in advance. Up to Saturday at noon, almost a week before the law became operative, nearly $1,500 worth of stamps, at the rate of 20 cents a ton for all foodstuffs, had been ordered and sold.

P. A. Methrin, a pure food expert, who has been appointed by Commissioner of Agriculture T. G. Hudson as pure food inspector for Georgia, has been at the capital for several weeks getting ready for his inspection tour of the state. He will start out immediately after the first of the month, and will send a steady stream of samples back to the office of State Chemist McCandless for inspection. All those foodstuffs which are adulterated and not so branded, or which do not come up to the specifications as filed by the manufacturers with the department of agriculture, will come under the arm of the law and be liable to prosecution.

In explaining this law, Capt. Wright, state chemist, said: "Instead of selling tags for inspection of foodstuffs, as is now the case with fertilizers and cotton-seed meal sold in the state, we are issuing inspection stamps, at the rate of 20 cents a ton, to be placed on all foodstuffs sold in Georgia. The price of inspection stamps is 10 cents a ton at present. We are going out to see that all foodstuffs shipped into Georgia are as pure as the specifications filed with us as pure."

"Under this head, all used as condiments will be tested. The large quantity of olive oil, sold and used as a condiment, is nothing but our own pure cotton-seed oil under a French brand. We contend that cotton-seed oil is purer and better, from a vegetable standpoint, than olive oil, and this inspection will make each oil stand on its own merits. This department has all along stood for cotton-seed oil as the purest oil known, and State Chemist McCandless is on record to this effect."

He says his mother's kicking isn't a steer
Because she thinks I ain't refined
I'd like to meet her, just to call her bluff!
Gee, I'm so darned jined I pretty near
Have apoplexy every time I hear
A phrase that ain't grammatical! It's
To have to stand and take that kind of guff.
But I'll call mother proper, never fear.
She wants to catch a duke for Sister Sue
And bag an earl for Sister Marguerite; And so she thinks that it would never do
Because I have a pair of twinklin' feet.
To let me in the family circle—pooh!
I'll simply paralyze her when we meet.

$10,000 Worth of Whisky

DOXOLOGY SUNG AT CLOSE

Closing of Bar Rooms at Valdosta Brought About Remarkable Scenes—Revelers Went From Place to Place Singing and Cheering.

Valdosta, Ga., July 28.—(Special.)—The saloons of Valdosta went out of business last night, after the biggest day's sales in their history. It is estimated that more than ten thousand dollars' worth of whisky was sold and shipped from the city in the one day.

The crowds arriving on the different trains throughout the day, and filling the saloons, resembled nothing so much as an old-time circus day crowd. They came from all of the adjacent dry towns and country to bid good-bye to booze and get a parting drink or bottle.

While the sales are conceded to have been the largest in the history of the town, there were probably not as many drunken men on the streets as there have been on other occasions. Most of those who came to buy whisky bought it by the quart, the gallon and the case, and carried or shipped it home. Many of the saloonists sold nearly all of their stocks, while others had a considerable quantity left. All of them have been reducing their stocks as rapidly as possible since the prohibition election four weeks ago.

Lively scenes were enacted as the closing hour—11:30—rolled round. Crowds of revelers went from place to place in the saloon district, singing and cheering, and though they made a great deal of noise, they were peaceable and good-natured. The town had been "west" since its founding, nearly fifty years ago.

At 11:30 the church bells were tolled, continuing until 12 o'clock, and to their music saloons doors were closed and Valdosta took her place in the ranks of dry towns. The town had been "west" since its founding, nearly fifty years ago.

TOURING IN NORTH CAROLINA.

In last week's article the proposition was stated that there has been a very marked improvement, not only in the financial condition of the farmers of the south, but in the methods and practices on the farms. Since writing that article I have traveled through the counties of Bladen, Robeson, Scottland, Richmond, Anson and Union in the state of North Carolina. There were from four to six of us engaged in lecturing at farmers' institutes, under the leadership and direction of Dr.
Tait Butler, director of such institutes under the auspices of the state board of agriculture. Two days of these meetings were held, on two successive days, in Robeson, one of the larger counties. At each of these appointments crowds of farmers and their wives and daughters, varying from 300 to 500, were present. Basket dinners were the rule at the noon hour and it is proper to say that these dinners presented evidence in abundant abundance that the farmers have plenty of good things to eat and that the farmers' wives know how to prepare and spread a feast fit for royalty.
From three to four lectures were given each day strictly on farm topics and domestic economy. Two very richly well-equipped ladies were among the lecturers. Separate buildings were provided in every instance, one for the men and one for the women and two lectures were conducted at the same time and place, only a few hundred feet apart. So far as I could see the plan worked admirably and is commended to the consideration of institute workers in other states. Moreover not only the men but the women are in the field in the same section of the state. The work is so arranged that the same lecturers, as to personnel, do not remain together more than for one or two meetings, but are "changed about" from day to day.
Holding these meetings, as a rule, outside the country, gives opportunity to see the country away from, as well as alongside, the swift running railroad trains.
To say that I was greatly benefited by expressing it mildly, at the good farming, productive soil and fine crops of Robeson, Bladen and Scotland counties.
The soils of these counties is very similar in character and appearance to those of Bullock, Jefferson, etc., in Georgia.
I saw plenty of cotton that, with ordinary seasons from now on, will produce one and a half bales of cotton per acre, and on some farms even more seems to be promised. True, it is somewhat later than usual, but the stands are good with few exceptions, the field in fine condition, and the plants healthy.
Now, don't let the "bears" conclude from this statement that there is going to be an overwhelming crop of cotton made this year. This prosperous condition of the crop does not extend into the hill region of north Georgia nor very far to the eastward—so I am informed. I learned that for several years past there has been a generous spirit of rivalry between the farmers of Robeson, Scotland and Richmond to see who can make the largest yields per acre. Many of them do not hesitate to apply one thousand, fifteen hundred and two thousand pounds of commercial fertilizers per acre. The results have been that crops averaging one bale per acre the "farm over" are no means uncommon.
In fact, such yields are not considered extraordinary. In many instances an average yield of one and a half bales and even two bales per acre have been secured. How is that "for high," ye farmers of other sections and other states? Nor are the good crop yields confined to the cotton fields.

In many fields of corn that gave promise of yielding 40 to 50 bushels to the acre, 100 bushels to the acre on limited areas excites no very great surprise. I did not see any fields that thought would make over 50 bushels, but was told that they could be shown.
Now this condition of things is not due to the naturally rich character of the soils, for that is not the case. They are fairly productive, naturally, and they are well, but the farmers are doing better work; they are using fertilizers liberally and at the same time judiciously; they sow some oats and even wheat and many cowpeas. They are on the alert for information that will help them to do better and better; they are giving heed, far more than they did a few years ago, to the teachings of science as brought home to them in experiment station bulletins and the efforts of farmers' institute workers. I firmly believe that the original source of this effective information is the bulletin of the experiment station at Raleigh (N. C.) to the very effective work and excellent bulletin of the state board of agriculture.

I am glad to be able to write so optimistically of the farming outlook in this section of the Old North State. May be equally as bright and promising in other sections and in other states. I am not referring to the present crop (which is equally bright and promising) is not generally promising, but to the evidence of progress and improvement that are in evidence on every farm and that cannot be hidden from view by the temporary cloud that overshadows general crop prospects.

R. J. REDDING.

Farm Correspondence.

"BOTTLE GRASS" (SETARIA GLAUCA).

"A Subscriber," Salem, Ala.—Please give me the name of the grass found enclosed; also when and how to sow it. How would it do for a summer pasture? Please answer through the Farm Department of The Constitution.

Answer: The grass is known botanically as setaria glauca, but commonly as "bottle grass." It is not considered a valuable grass, and you will not be able to find the seeds on sale anywhere. When thick enough to mow it is raised for the purpose of making rather poor quality of hay. Moreover, it is an annual and would have to be sown every year. I consider it as rather a weed than useful plant, and would advise you not to attempt its culture.

T. G. H. Colbran, Ala.—I come again for some advice.

I want to put my Irish potatoes to keep till fall. Now, a neighbor says he read something about sprinkling lime over them to keep them from rotting. Do you know anything about it?

Answer: I am not aware that sprinkling with lime will prevent Irish potatoes from rotting (sprouting?), but rather to prevent rotting. I have no experience in keeping the tubers over summer. In this issue of the Weekly for July 8, inst., you will have found two inquiries of the same import as yours, i. e., in regard to keeping potatoes through winter. Doubtless you had not received your paper of that date before writing your letter, which is dated July 8, inst.

2. Irish potatoes are of a fattening nature, being composed almost entirely of starch and water, but there is so much water in them that if fed of them to a hog could hardly eat enough of them to fatten it fully, so small is its stomach.
The potatoes would doubtless be more readily eaten if cooked, and should have some corn meal sprinkled over them—"the more the better." It would be much more judicious to sell the potatoes at 20 cents a bushel, and let them be fed to hogs.

GINSBERG.

Mrs. J. C. H., Samson, Ala.—I send you by mail some roots that we call jinsing.
Please let me hear what you have to say about it, and what is the sample worth per pound.

Answer: The specimen plant is not ginseng at all, and so far as I know is worth nothing at all.

(1) SOW PIGS AND PEANUTS. (2) CHRON-IC BRONCHITIS OF PIG. (3) RYE IN COTTON.

D. J. Carr, Livermore, Ala.—Will you kindly advise a subscriber through your valued columns?

1. I have two sow pigs that I intend to keep for stock hogs, and I want to know if it will injure them to run on ground peas.
2. I have one male pig which I ordered from Missouri. He is Poland China, and shortly after his arrival he began wheezing and has been at it for five or six months.
Sometimes you can hear him for 50 yards.
Is there any remedy? If so, give the name.
3. Will rye do anything sown in cotton fields at laying-by? I want the rye for winter pasture.

Answer: 1. I have before heard that pasturing brood sows on peanuts would injure them, but I find no authority for the statement in any of my books. I think it is a mistake. Peanuts are good for pigs on peanuts if fed twice a day on corn or corn meal, or wheat bran mash.

2. Your description of the "symptoms" is not sufficient to enable me to diagnose with confidence, but I suspect that the hog has chronic bronchitis.
Give me a description of Fowler's solution of arsenic three times a day in the food, and at the same time 8 to 10 grains of cod liver oil three times a day. Repeat twice a day in the food is also helpful.
3. See reply under head of "Rye in Cotton," in Weekly of July 8 (the date of your letter).

APPLER OATS.

Walter B., Calhoun, Ga.—Will you kindly help me with some information concerning the Appler oats? Last fall I bought some oats claimed to be Appler. I sowed them in open ground, and they grew very well. I have not yet had them, but they seemed to be good. I want to know if they are good for sowing in the field, and if so, when and how to sow them. I have heard that they are good for sowing in the field, but I want to know if they are good for sowing in the field, and if so, when and how to sow them. I have heard that they are good for sowing in
the field, but I want to know if they are good for sowing in the field, and if so, when and how to sow them.

Answer: The sample of oats you sent in your letter is certainly not of the Appler variety, but looks more like Winter Turf, which is not a good variety for sowing in the field. It is not proofed. The latter is also practically barren (more properly, awnless), and the Appler has a stiff, short awn proceeding from the base of the grain, which has been planted and reaped continuously in the fall at the Georgia experiment station for several years. For more information, I refer you to the bulletin of the Georgia experiment station, Harris county, Georgia. For a dozen years past the Georgia station has been settling its whole surplus production of Appler oats at $1 per bushel.
By ordering of the station you may rely on getting genuine Appler seed.
Buy five bushels and get it in seed and then save your own seed every year.

SORE-LEGGED MULE.

Will Galaway, Ala.—I have a young mule 2 years old, very large to her age. Her legs swell very badly. Were so stiff she could hardly move. I have tried all the remedies I could find, but she is getting worse. I want to know if there is any remedy for this disease.
I have heard that it is caused by poison, but I want to know if that is true, and if so, what the poison is, and how to get rid of it. I have heard that it is caused by a mite, but I want to know if that is true, and if so, what the mite is, and how to get rid of it.
I have heard that it is caused by a fungus, but I want to know if that is true, and if so, what the fungus is, and how to get rid of it.

Answer: I regret that the description of the symptoms is not such that it enables me to diagnose the case. You do not distinctly indicate whether or not there is any "breaking out" on the legs, or only great tenderness. I am not surprised to learn of the injured condition of your mule, but I am surprised that you have not yet had her worked all the year. I am sure that she has been worked all the year. If possible, have a veterinary surgeon to see and prescribe for the animal.

MOON-BLINDNESS.

A. E. Stone, Greenwood Springs, Miss.— I have a horse 2 years old, and about two weeks ago his eyes got weak and commenced to run water, and the lids are red and inflamed. His right eye has a blue spot on the sight of it, though he can see all right yet, but I am afraid he will go blind. Please give me a remedy.

Answer: The symptoms as described by you suggest the probability that your horse has the weakness of the eyes commonly known as "moon-blindness," which is a very common disease, especially in the Mississippi valley.
The attacks come on periodically and usually, usually one eye being attacked at a time, and sometimes moving from one eye to the other. One attack generally lasts a week or ten days, and comes on again in a month or two. The first attack seldom destroys the sight, but it sometimes does, and in the case of your horse the attack (if it be the first) must have been Every second some one, somewhere, is 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6—60 times to the Minute, 60 Minutes to the Hour, 3600 Boxes an Hour, 36,000 Boxes a Day of Ten Hours, 1,080,000 Boxes a Month, and then some.

Think of it—220,000 People take a Cas-cared tablet each day. Millions use Cas-carets when necessary.

The Judgment of Millions of Bright Americans is Infallible. They have been Over Five Millions of Dollars have been Spent to make the merits of Cascarets

They are Trade Thieves who would rob paid for by Cascarets.

SPRAIN OF BACK TENDON.

D. S. Lusk, Ala.—I have a mule 8 or 9 years old that has something the matter with her fore legs. It seems to be in the tendon of the knee and swollen. The leaders seem to be drawn and swollen, which makes her walk on her toes. Her knees are all right; she can step over as high a fence as any mule I know of. I have heard of this trouble, but I don't know what caused it.
I bought her in that fix. I have been using Japanese oil, but it did not seem to give relief.
The leaders seem to be sore. I saw in your paper where you give remedy for such things.

Answer: It is doubtless what is known as a sprain of the back tendon, which is a chronic case. It was probably caused by pulling at a very heavy load.
In a severe case it is well to put on that foot a high-heeled shoe, so as to elevate the heel and slacken the tendon.
If the swelling is sore and swollen, the leaders seem to be sore. I saw in your paper where you give remedy for such things.
